

Check in on how your child is growing and learning.

Early Childhood Developmental Screenings are checks that help parents understand how their child is developing and growing.

What is a screening?

A screening provider will check how your child moves, plays, talks, and behaves.

This knowledge can help parents find resources to support their child's growth and development to best help them learn and thrive.

Why does it matter?

Screenings give parents more tools to understand and support their child's growth and development.

The earlier you have your child screened the more time you have to address any needs and set them up for success.
